SAN FRANCISCO PENINSULA CAMELLIA SOCIETY

Activities, goals, history

- Annual Camellia Flower Shows with 1,000 blooms on display. Free entry.
- Camellia sales of rare plants raise funds to support community activities.
- Monthly meetings with outside speakers on camellia care and culture, exhibition of blooms, camellias in garden design, and occasionally on other aspects of garden care. See overleaf for location.
- SFPCS has a prize-winning booth at the spring San Francisco Flower & Garden Show. Come see us there!
- SFPCS is a nonprofit affiliated with the American Camellia Society and the Northern California Camellia Council.
- SFPCS cooperates with other garden societies to promote our common interest in plants and the health of our gardens.
- Activities are held on the mid-Peninsula. Members come from San Francisco to Los Altos and from Saratoga and Sacramento.

The Society welcomes visitors to its programs and warmly invites your membership.

SFPCS IN THE COMMUNITY

Camellias are beautiful and versatile plants that are well-suited to the Bay Area. Our Society encourages their use in private and public gardens. We also offer cultural information to the public.

We hold our annual show in February and operate a booth at the San Francisco Flower and Garden Show in April. We also sell unusual plants at our February show.

We plant camellias in public gardens and buildings from Saratoga to San Francisco.

In Redwood City, SFPCS camellias can be seen at Red Morton and Community Activities Buildings and at the Main Library.

AMONG OUR MEMBERS ARE

Home gardeners with balconies and patios, to suburban and large gardens
Landscape Designers
Horticulturists
